

SEEKS PUNISHMENT OF MEN WHO BURIED DOG IN U. S. FLAG

Mrs. Ball Will Call Attention of Congress to "Mugg-sie's" Interment.

That the action of the soldiers at College Park in burying their dog, "Muggsie," in an American flag will be called to the attention of Congress, was declared today by Mrs. Isabel Worrell Ball.

It was Mrs. Ball who, as chairman of the Woman's Relief Corps' national committee for the prevention of the desecration of the flag, yesterday sent a letter to Secretary of War Stimson, demanding that the soldiers be reprimanded for using the national emblem as a shroud for a dog.

"The use to which the insignia of our powerful nation has been put by the paid servants of the Government will be called to the attention of the Judiciary Committee of the House of Representatives," said Mrs. Ball today. "The object of this will be to emphasize the need of a national law to prevent the desecration of the flag. Congressman Carl C. Anderson of Ohio has prepared a bill, the passage of which will be vigorously urged. I think the dog incident will serve as a strong argument."

"The United States is the only big nation that has not enacted a national law protecting its flag from desecration. Abraham Lincoln was the first man to advocate such a law, but from 1861 down to the present time each Congress has contended that it has not power to enact such legislation. But while our great law-making body professes helplessness in protecting the national emblem, the Commissioner of Patents—one man holding a comparatively unimportant position—makes it impossible for anyone to use the American flag in connection with any trade mark. He refuses to issue a patent or copyright on anything using the flag as a part of its trade mark."

Mrs. Ball, who, in her letter to the Secretary of War, stated she was speaking for 200,000 women when she demanded a reprimand of the soldiers who buried their dog with military honors, today stated she is sure it will not be necessary for the patriotic orders to bring pressure to bear to get satisfaction from the War Department. "I am confident," she said, "the War Department will investigate the gross irregularity and deal with the men in a proper manner. The War Department has always co-operated with the Woman's Relief Corps in such matters."

Captain Beck stated this afternoon that the soldiers, who gave the dog its elaborate burial at the aviation field, College Park, would not discuss the matter until it is officially brought to their attention by the War Department. "I know nothing of the incident," said Captain Beck. "If it is necessary for a reply to be made it will be upon orders from the chief signal officer. The War Department will investigate the matter through him."

NEW YORK FACES PESTILENCE FROM HEAPS OF GARBAGE

Streets Piled With Refuse
As Striking Carters
Cripple Service.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—With streets piled high with putrid garbage and with the city's health menaced by pestilence, there is every indication today that Health Commissioner Lederle will be forced to assume control of the situation and clean the city up at any cost.

A mass meeting of the 3,500 striking garbage cart drivers and helpers has been called for tonight in Cooper Union, under the auspices of the Independence party. The police admit they fear trouble at the gathering.

Efforts to clean up the city by the use of professional strike breakers so far have failed.

In the lower East Side tenement districts conditions are almost unbearable. Green grocery stores which usually clean out their stocks Saturday nights, throw decaying vegetables into the streets. Tons of this stuff are piled in some of the city's streets.

Added Menace.

The danger of fire has been materially increased, for hoodlums are burning these masses of garbage as bonfires. The fire department has called in men on leave and has suspended the "day off" period of firemen. Hundreds of firemen are patrolling the residential districts, extinguishing these street fires as rapidly as possible. Commis-

Merchants' Body to Increase Membership

Plans for increasing the membership of the Retail Merchants' Association will be laid at once by the membership committee, of which W. W. Norman is chairman.

It is expected the committee will hold a meeting this week upon Mr. Norman's return to the city. The "get together" dinner gave the work of the association a great impetus. In the opinion of President Joseph Strachan, and other officers, and it is to be pushed with greater vigor than ever.

The advent of the souvenir card has made the Christmas card business a great change in the handling of the mail. We now have just as many bulky packages to handle as we had before the card became so popular, and now we have hundreds of thousands of cards to handle in addition. These cards literally swamp every office in the country during the holiday season.
